Teacher Corps Program Develops Human Resources

By JAY PASHALEK

Brief ceremonies Tuesday officially opened the Teacher Corps Decentralized Recruiting and Referral Center at the Center for Urban Education, 16th and Spalding Streets.

The Teacher Corps, developed by UNO personnel, received a $99,169 grant from the United States Office of Education.

University President Kirk Naylor, speaking at the ceremonies, said there "is a commitment on the part of the University to this program."

Naylor said UNO is taking seriously the notion of becoming a greater part with the community.

Although 99 per cent of the program is federal financed, it is managed locally. Mrs. Wilda Stephenson, associate staff director, said services are more effective on the local level.

'Shaky Start'

The program's recruiter/evaluator, Wilbert Bledsoe, felt a misunderstanding of roles sent the program on a "shaky start in 1965." Bledsoe emphasized local control by pointing out that the community and the University have the power to hire and fire.

Dr. Floyd Waterman, director of the Center for Urban Education, said, "it ties the community, the local schools, and the university together."

The program is designed to enhance educational opportunities available to children in low-income areas. It also encourages colleges and universities to broaden teacher preparation programs.

Waterman said they were "desperately in need of office space," and much of the program's success depends on it. The rostrum at the Center was barely able to hold the participants, for example.

Developed Human Resources

Naylor felt "expansion is the word." Chancellor Durward Varner agreed, but added the program is working "because we developed the human resources."

The Teacher Corps is now serving 140 school districts, five prisons, Puerto Rico and Washington, D.C.

The program is manned by 3,000, and dedication appears to be a great factor. Since the program's inception in 1965, 86 per cent of the workers have begun teaching or working in a related field.

UNO's program is expected to involve about 300 applicants from 12 states—Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri and Nebraska.

5 Other Universities

Persons in other states are being served at Southern California University, Michigan University, Georgia University, Howard University and Wayne State University in Detroit.

Applications will be processed at the Center for Urban Education, 3805 No. 16th Street, and will be sent to other universities in the program.

Successful applicants enter one of two degree programs—the graduate program, leading to a Master of Science in Education degree, or the undergraduate program, with a Bachelor of Science in Education.

Each student in Teacher Corps receives $75, plus $15, a dependent weekly, with college tuition paid. A Corpsman carries 9-12 semester hours at the university, and also spends 10-15 hours each week in community-school relationship projects.

Students put in 20-30 hours of teaching in a week, too. This can be by individual or group tutoring, or classroom instruction.

Youngbloods, Adderly Booked

SPO's Order of Day—Several Small Groups

By DIANA FULLER

If you had $13,000 to spend on a concert, would you spend it all on one group in one concert or several "smaller" concerts? Or, how about one concert with several groups?

The Student Programming Council, SPO's governing body, was confronted with this issue Tuesday and backed the resolution of the Concert Committee. The Council members are SPO committee heads and officers.

At their last weekly meeting, the Concert Committee voted to have several groups. They attended the SPC meeting to offer reasons for resolving to break the $13,000 into smaller amounts.

Joe Stitt, committee member, cites the Youngbloods concert as an example. The Youngbloods are a nationally known group costing a low $4,500. Cannonball Adderly, star of the spring jazz concert, will cost only $3,800.

The committee has set a goal of $4,000 profit from outside the school on the Youngbloods concert. Publicity will be a big factor. The Concert Committee is confident the concert will draw many from outside the UNO community.

Rikki Smith feels almost any group brought in could be made a success through extensive publicity. She gave Kreskin as an example. However, others on the committee felt it was Kreskin's name and the fact he had appeared on the Tonight Show which drew the crowd.

SPC sponsored a poll to determine which groups students wanted. SPC passed a motion to use the list, headed by Chicago and Santana, and would try to contact those highest on the list.

"The poll is invalid," says Todd Simon, committee member, citing the small number of votes and placement of the polls. Concert Committee members felt the placement of the poll outside the Ouampi Room was poor. Many students never pass the Ouampi Room, they said. Only 331 students voted, an indication the poll was not representative of the entire school. Chicago, top group on the list, is out of UNO's price range, as are many of the top groups on the list.

Bill Kalhorn, another committee member, stresses that smaller prices do not mean poor quality. He feels many big-name groups give poor concerts, are late, or simply break contracts. Ed Staszko, another committee member, says many students feel a good group is one they hear on KOIL frequently.

Distinction Needed

Stitt says a distinction should be made between supergroups, such as Chicago and the Who and big groups, such as the Grateful Dead, Mothers of Invention, or Seals and Crofts.

Overexposure is an additional detracting factor. Many big-name groups have been in the area several times. Three Dog Night, Chicago and Blood, Sweat and Tears are committee examples.

Scott Darling, council member, looks at big-name groups as drawing cards. He feels poor attendance at some coffee houses indicated low drawing power of smaller groups.

Jim Craven, SPO President, noted, "Other schools such as Lincoln have both large and small groups. We should look to the future. Are we going to be a constant drain on the budget? We should not have to limit our concerts on the amount of money. Large groups should be used as a drawing card." Craven felt concerts should become sources of revenue. He suggested charging admission in the future as a possible way.

Ruth Akers, Secretary for the council, saw smaller concerts as building for the future: "Going out on a limb

To the Senior Class

With graduation planned for this coming January, I find myself extremely pressed for time in my efforts to complete assignments, and with a myriad of other pressures, I feel I must submit my resignation as Senior Class Senator to the Student Senate, effective upon a newly elected Senior Class Senator taking office. Further, this will allow a new Senior Class Senator to be elected on Dec. 9 and 10, 1970, and not leave the seat vacant after my graduation.

I apologize to the Senior Class for not being able to serve out my term. I hope the Senior Class will elect a capable, knowledgeable, and concerned Senator next month.

Special Event Plans Complete

Fourth of a Series
By GERI TETEA

The success of the "Flippers" at this year's first nightclub, may give an indication of more good things to come from SPO's Special Events Committee.

Mike Cutchall, committee chairman, said future events include another Nightclub and an upcoming Coffeehouse.

Coffeehouse, Nov. 23 and 24, will feature "Fats and Dave". The duo performed here last year but Cutchall said not enough people could attend the afternoon concert.

Attendance was excellent at the first Coffeehouse. This time it will be moved from the Ouampi Room to the more spacious ballroom.

Trivia Bowl Popular

Another popular presentation of Special Events is the Trivia Bowl. Based on the College Bowl format, it probes student minds with such questions as, "What was the name of the Lone Ranger's horse?"

Finals will again be held during Maie Day activities. Cutchall said last year 24 teams participated including eight each from Creighton and the College of St. Mary.

Mike Meiches, present Gateway Editor, headed last year's competition climaxed by a City Championship involving the three schools.

Though the Special Events Committee isn't as large as last year, its 12 members are very active. Cutchall said committee members are all new, with many of them freshmen. The committee operates with a $6,000 budget, which must cover entertainment and contract costs, trophies, and advertising.

Before becoming chairman, Cutchall noticed too much spending on decorations for events: "We've let go of decorating to spend more money on groups."

Is the Special Events Committee valuable to SPO? Cutchall feels its duties should be given to other committees, such as Dance or Concerts "if committee heads were paid." Paid heads would have enough time to devote to only SPO work.

"The problem is you have to remember all this time is volunteered. You can't overload people and committees with work."

Even though committees cover different areas, they aren't totally independent. Cutchall said they work together and help on other committee's projects. "Publicity helps out to coordinate all events."

Cutchall said he's received no complaints or new ideas for Special Events from students but, "we welcome any suggestions." Meetings are held each Friday at 11:30 a.m. in the SPO office. Suggestions can be given then.

OCC Sponsors Tonight's Dance

Festival, Exhibit in Offing

There is constant discussion about relationships or ties between colleges in a given metropolitan area.

In Omaha, we are blessed with three: UNO, Creighton and the College of St. Mary.

Can you guess their closest relationship?

It's called Omaha Collegiate Council.

These three institutions, along with four nursing schools (Methodist, Clarkson, St. Joseph's and Nebraska-Medical Center) combine to form OCC.

The President is UNO's Steve Heck. He explains, "Call us a small SPO—but the problem is nobody really knows what OCC is all about."

Heck was appointed to the Council last Spring by our Student Government. Each member school is entitled three representatives. (UNO's other reps are Jon Bridgewater and Denny Jorgenson.)

OCC meets about three times a month planning new programs on what was a nonexistent budget. Heck comments, "When I took over as President, there was little money in our treasury, but a $20 membership fee from each participating school now puts us in good shape."

OCC, operating in its fourth year, schedules activities throughout both semesters. Their work is put to a test tonight since they are sponsoring a City-Wide Computerized Dance in the UNO

Ballroom. "The UNO response has been tremendous," chimed Heck. (Students filled out forms last week in which they listed their personal statistics and characteristics including what they look for in a mate.)

Heck added, "We encourage students to come to the dance whether they signed up early or not. Dates and Stags are also welcomed. Tickets are $1.50." The dance will last from 8:30 p.m. until midnight. Bumpy Action will play.

OCC's big promotion last year was the Jazz Folk Festival, in which any student from a participating school could enter. Cash awards were presented to the top performers.

Heck assured a similar event has been formulated and added that an art exhibit was also on the agenda.

Another service is the posting of calendars informing students in each school of activities going on in member institutions. At UNO, calendars appear outside the Ouampi Room and Room 250, MBSC.

OCC, a non-profit organization advised by The Reverend Leonard Barry, has gained a lot of publicity and prestige the last 12 months but as Heck notes, "It's still up to the students of the member schools to keep us going strong."

Heck . . . "Student support needed."

New brew for the new breed

"All I can do is pace the floor."

Johnson . . . As he looked in "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Character Role Normal For Actor

Dick Johnson

By JACKIE HAMMER

What is a "Maggie"?
"It really looks kind of like an Oscar," grinned UNO senior Dick Johnson.

When a phone call informed the then-sophomore that he had won a "Maggie", a stunned Johnson thanked the caller politely and asked him what that meant.

Evidently, the Metropolitan Actors Guild had voted Johnson the "Best Supporting Actor" of the entire season for his comic role in the drama "Tea and Sympathy". Johnson had missed the awards presentation because he was unaware he was being considered for an award.

The theater "just happened" to the unsuspecting Johnson when he was a student at North High School. His very first role was the lead of Johnny Brown in that year's school musical, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown".

"It was a harrowing experience," he explained, "because I didn't know anything about acting. I think I just got picked because there wasn't anybody else. I didn't really get interested in the theater until my freshman year in college."

However, since that time Johnson has given excellent performances in University and community theater which are too numerous to mention.

Johnson admits for a long time he was stereotyped . . . he really felt like he was in a rut. He was playing young men who were all much like himself in different ways.

"My first break came when I was cast as a 45-year old hypochondriac in the "Imaginary Invalid". It was a lot of fun because I wasn't being me. It was the first time I had a chance to come out of myself and it was a great experience."

Complete Change Needed

"My best role wasn't a Dick Johnson role." Johnson was referring to his most recent role, that of Nick Bottom in the University Theatre's presentation of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream". Johnson described Bottom as a 40-year old big fat boob. "I had to change everything about me in order to be the character . . . my voice, facial expressions—and I even wore a fake nose in order to be believable. I guess that's the main thing about acting, believability."

Johnson has played both serious and comic roles, but he says comedy is without a doubt the most difficult, "especially if you're doing a certain style. It must appeal to every member of the audience and the comic timing must be perfect. I don't think you can acquire; you either have it or you don't. And you can tell the minute you're onstage if you're hitting or not."

Edward Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf" is Johnson's favorite play. He portrayed Nick in Chanticleer Theatre's production, and says he'd love to do it again . . . as the same character.

"I suppose an actor is supposed to say that he can play any part, but he can't. An actor is limited physically, vocally and by his own inhibitions."

Despite all of Johnson's experience, he still admits to cases of "stage fright" before performances. "Before I go onstage I'm so scared that all I can do is pace the floor. My hands sweat and my stomach feels like it's upside down. But when I'm onstage all of that drops. I think that's because of all the rehearsals . . . they condition you."

"But the feeling you get after a really good performance," he continues, "is the greatest feeling in the world, and I wouldn't exchange it for anything." But an actor can never be entirely satisfied with his performance. "Once you think you are great, you're nothing."

Johnson says he's "glad to see the Gateway coverage of University Theatre has improved so much over the past semesters. "I think that had a lot to do with why we had a full house all three nights for "A Midsummer Night's Dream," he claims.

"On the last night we received the greatest compliment an audience can pay the cast . . . a standing ovation. We couldn't believe it. We had a hard time seeing through the screen (part of the scenery used in the play), but one of the guys said, 'Hey, I think they're standing up!'"

Johnson feels students in the past have been pretty apathetic about University Theatre. "They should enjoy the theatre because it's their theatre. I know the average person goes to the theatre for entertainment. A lot of people don't like to think, and a lot of plays make you think. A good theatre program is one that is varied, and throughout the season this is what the University Theatre attempts to do . . . entertain you and make you think."

Turnout Important

It's discouraging to work so hard on the set construction and acting for a play and then have no one show up," he continues. Last summer the repertory theatre put in 12 hours a day practicing and were met with disappointing turnouts. "In front of a full house an actor turns on," claims Johnson.

Johnson's major is Recreation with a specialization in drama. "Recreation isn't playground monitoring like most people automatically think. It's a mixture of theatre, music, physical education and art. It's really fascinating."

"I love children's theatre. Through Recreation I got a job teaching it last summer at Chanticleer Theatre to kids between the ages of eight and 10. Children are marvelous," he exclaimed. "They learn so much because they have no inhibitions and tremendous imaginations."

One of the young actor's main outside interests is photography because he says it's another way to be really creative. He claims the camera is like an actor which you can manipulate and make it anything you want it to.

"But when I'm in a play, I live and breathe rehearsals. Now that I'm not actively involved in a play, I don't know what to do with myself." He thought a moment. "I guess I could try studying," he laughed.

Behold A Constitution

Behold—the "Constitution of the Students of the University of Nebraska at Omaha."

If the name doesn't turn you off too much, read on. There is a veritable orgy of hereby's, two-third's, and shall be's.

Sounds kind of like a statistical analysis, or perhaps in parts, like an Old English Parliament report. (Circa Caucer . . .)

Are you ready to voice your approval or disapproval of this document in a soon-to-be-held all student election?

Did you know there was going to be an all-school election?

Did you know we had a Student Body constitution?

If one gives the page close scrutiny, he finds an interesting phrase: "supreme student governing body."

It appears our Student Government leaders do not understand definitions of govern. The way we see it here, albeit from the Engineering Building, is this:

1) In order to govern, the governing body must be acknowledged as such by those governed. In other words, the student body must accept Student Government, or

2) In order to govern, the governing body must be powerful enough to force governance. In other words, UNO student government would have to have a means to force acceptance.

Neither requirement exists at UNO.

The first part falls because obviously not all students have shown their acceptance of Student Government. It must then be assumed those not indicating approval do not want to be governed. And, Student Government, how can we expect students who do not want to be governed to vote in an election on government? It looks as though those who do not want to be governed are ungovernable.

The second cannot stand. If you read the constitution carefully the lack of power becomes evident.

Student Government is divided into the legislative, executive and judicial—just like the Federal Government, in structure.

But Student Government is a recommending body in all cases. Every decision of Student Government is subject to revision.

In displaying the powers of each branch, the constitution merely reaffirms an old suspicion of ours—that student government is mainly busy with self-perpetuation.

For example, the Senate has powers such as:

Running student elections . . . (perpetuation)

Determine committee structure . . . (perpetuation)

Approve student organizations . . . (perpetuation)

Impeachment . . . (perpetuation)

Request executive appearances . . . (perpetuation)

All other power vested by constitution.

The other branches are much the same—in affect.

Another point: Are we expected to vote intelligently on it? Neither side has been presented until now. Have the students been made aware of the impact (?) this constitution can have on them?

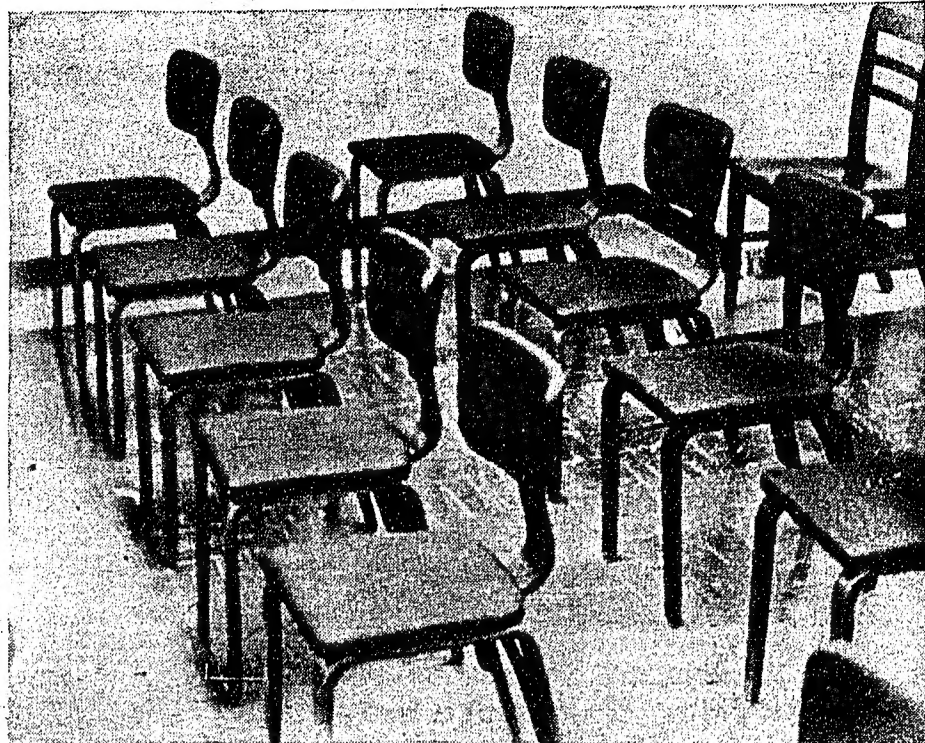

Since this constitution is basically the same as the old one, and the Student Government had trouble providing government, and the personality of the student body to all appearances is the same, we must presume no impact is stated. (Or even implied.)

In all fairness, though, we have to presume there exist persons who believe there is impact.

Who would think there is an impact?

YES—student government.

A Forum?

At the last weekly meeting of the Student Senate, the student governing body decided to hold a Forum—to discuss Student Government issues with interested students.

A week ago, senators passed out fliers saying, "Voice Your Beef," advertising the Forum to be held Monday, Nov. 16 at 8:30 a.m. in Room 307 of the Student Center.

Gateway photographer Mark Kauffman was there to catch the exuberance of this senator-student confrontation. The above picture exhibits this exuberance.

Hoof-And-Mouth Disease

A pair of recently-elected student senators made news in last issue of the Gateway. The story "Senators Approve Trial Daaft Center" gave John McFarlane and Linda Radachi a forum to put their feet in their mouths.

McFarlane is credited with a comment that if the center becomes a "rallying point for undesirables and the lunatic fringe," it should be chloroformed.

We couldn't agree more. To point out the lucidity of Senator McFarlane's argument: If the College of Continuing Studies becomes a potpourri of undesirables and the lunatic fringe, it should be terminated.

Even at that, it is only a matter of definition. McFarlane is a CCS representative.

Radachi, from the Education College, suggested the Psychology or Sociology Departments send out questionnaires testing student interest.

Economically, that's fairly uneducated. The costs of running computer forms alone could reach into a sizable percentage of the cost of running the center for the trial of 90 days.

Our Student Senate squabbled over an hour on the expenditure of $125 to set the Draft Information Center in motion. If the senators were always that careful with our money, it would take 2,080 hours to allocate the $260,000 Student Activities Budget.

That's 261 working days, and we all know they didn't do that. Broken down further, $125 is less than 1¢ per student—and we lost that in inflation while they were deliberating.

I imagine one student, much less 30, should be able to spend $125 in an hour.

Todd Simon

'Insult to Women'

Sir:

As a member of this University family, I wish to express my feelings in regard to the recent 'Art Exhibit' in the Administration building.

The entry entitled "Birth" is an insult to women in particular and to the viewer as a whole. Who, in their right mind, could take God's wonderful gift of life and interpret it in such an obscene, nauseous, fashion?

If this is the artist's conception, then I feel he needs psychiatric counseling but the secretions of his mind should not be put on public display. The gallery could be better utilized as storage space, if this is an example of what is being taught and sanctioned, as art.

I am looking forward to seeing this in print, verbatim.

SPO Wants Small Groups

might be one way of making a success."

Miss Smith, Concerts Committee Chairman, felt it should be stressed that a large group performing at one concert would appeal to only part of the school. She thought bootstrappers and some of the older people on campus should be considered, too.

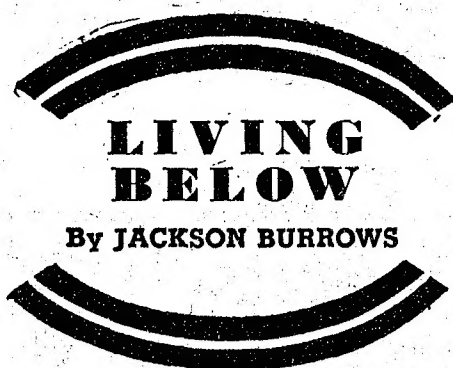

Renee Holmes, SPC member, said she attended a Concerts

Committee meeting and really enjoyed their music, even though the groups were unfamiliar to her.

SPC also listened to a tape of a group, "Just the Three of Us." Jeff Smith, a member of the group, explained that the group was formerly the "New Frontier." There are two guys and a girl in the group, which is from Midland College. They charge $100 an hour.

SPC also voted on selection of Christmas cards to send to administrators, staff, faculty, and other organization heads. Wendi Meyers submitted three designs to the Council: 1) a wreath with a peace sign in the center; 2) a black girl and white girl holding a wreath with the peace emblem in the center; and 3) a rectangular design embodying Christmas symbols. The Council selected the card with two girls.

'And a Lonely One Cries'

I try so hard—
Failures small—
To lead my life
That all thoughts fall
And cease.
What am I anyway?
A bit of dirt,
Some water, true—
A mere insert
Of life.
All men think
But never knew
Why they live,
Where they go
After death.
And I'm like you,
I do not care.

To know such things;
I cannot dare
To see.
"Oh, Mankind, please,
I pray to you
To show me how
And what to do!"
I cry.
But no one hears
Or cares for such,
Those pleadings of my soul;
I am not much
As I die.
You've failed me, Man,
No longer friend,
And failed yourself;
You'll see your end
And leave—alone!

Values

My friend, there's magic in the world;
Come look and see it in the wind,
You'll know it when you hear a rainbow
Or touch the dreams that might have been.

Mankind, you can't stray forever
Down the paths you chose to follow;
Won't you see and realize that
Past and Present are Tomorrow?

The wonders that are all around you,
The gift of life, the beauty there,
Will vanish, will be felt no longer
Unless your values lead somewhere.

Kind Man, you reflect the glories
Of your proud and noble birth;
Spawned amid the teeming chaos
Of a new-born, lifeless Earth.

I sing your praises, regal Man,
You've stood the tortuous test of time,
But don't forget you're just a part
Of one far longer life than thine.

So friend, think now as you travel
Down that twisted road, Beware:
Knowledge that is left untempered
And lacking awe can lead nowhere.

Vietnam Vigil

By TIM CONNELLY

Week of Nov. 7-Nov. 14: Fighting this week in Vietnam pushed the death toll for United States servicemen to 44,004. This figure is based upon deaths in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961.

Although U.S. servicemen have had few enemy encounters, 44 were killed and 92 were wounded last week. Most of the deaths were attributed to booby traps and land mines that are detonated by remote control.

Military sources estimate that about 20 per cent of the 44,004 U.S. servicemen killed in Indochina have been victims of mines, booby traps and grenades.

President Nixon will have to move 22,000 servicemen out of Vietnam if he is to meet his planned troop strength of 344,000 men by December of this year. At present, there are 368,000 GIs in the combat zone.

Laird Warns

United States Secretary of Defense, Melvin Laird, warned the North Vietnamese that further attacks on unarmed American planes could bring a renewal of air strikes against anti-aircraft installations in North Vietnam. Laird's remarks came after an

44,004

American RF-4 reconnaissance jet with two crew members was downed over North Vietnam. The reconnaissance flights are being made because the North Vietnamese are strengthening their conventional weapons supply north of the Demilitarized Zone.

'Defend Independence'

North Vietnam's military daily newspaper, Quan Doi Nhan Dan, commented on Laird's statement saying "his (Laird) language cannot frighten the Vietnamese people in any way. All U.S. acts of violation against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam air space, territorial waters and territory are crimes of oppression and must be duly punished. To defend the independence and security of the country is the Vietnamese people's sacred and legitimate right to self-defense."

For the past two weeks there have been reports that North Vietnam plans another offensive after the monsoon season comes to a halt in February or early spring. The monsoon season has enabled North Vietnamese troops to move supplies to the coastal lowlands region.

South Vietnamese Vice President, Nguyen Cao Ky, will spend approximately two and one-half weeks in the United States touring various military installations.

Ky's first stop upon his arrival Saturday was the military academy at West Point. Ky was reported to have spoken to the cadets about the last seven years in Vietnam. Ky also said that the United States' role in his country would be over "very soon."

An Army spokesman said this week that the United States special forces or better known as the Green Berets, are "trained to build as well as destroy."

Troop Cut

The Pentagon said that the Green Berets strength will be trimmed one-third of its present size to 6,000 men or less by 1971. The group is being cut to economize and a spokesman said in the future, the Special Forces will be used in "nation building" programs to advise and assist the armies of other countries.

Deposed Cambodian chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, has two children who have been arrested and are expected to face a military court for attacking the present government's republic and its abolition of their fathers monarchy.

Sihanouk, his wife, and other government members have been sentenced to death and are living in exile in Peking.

Nominations Open for

Great Teacher Awards

An unrestricted direct $1,000 grant from Eastman Kodak Company will be used by UNO to support the Great Teacher Awards.

The grant, plus other donations to the University, will be used to create a fund from which cash awards will be made to two outstanding UNO faculty members during mid-year commencement exercises Jan. 30.

The deadline for submitting nominations for Great Teacher Awards is Dec. 18. Nominations forms are available now at various campus locations.

Nominees will be selected for their ability to inspire students to want to learn, their ability to present subject matter in an interesting and effective manner, general interest in students as a teacher, advisor or sponsor of student activities; proficiency in the field in which teaching occurs, and a firm belief in the importance and dignity of teaching as a profession.

All current full-time faculty who spend at least 50 per cent of their time in classroom teaching are eligible to receive the awards, provided they have been on full-time status at the University for no fewer than two consecutive years preceding the nominations. Previous award winners are ineligible.

Great Teacher Awards were presented for the first time at UNO last January. Winners were Dr. M. Gene Newport, professor of management; and Gary Blum, assistant professor of philosophy.

The procedure for selecting the award-winners will be the same as that used last year. Members of the University Senate Committee on the Improvement of Instruction will receive and sort nomination forms. These then will be distributed to ad hoc screening committees in the colleges. Each screening committee will submit no more than two nominations to the Committee which will submit the nominations to University President Kirk Naylor. He will select the winners from the final nominations.

Dr. Clemm Kessler, assistant professor of psychology, is chairman of the University Senate Committee on the Improvement of Instruction.

Eastman Kodak's support of the UNO program is a direct result of company policy for supporting public institutions "in maintaining the high standards met in educating men and women who now are Kodak employees."

Publicly supported colleges and universities receive $250 for each academic year—undergraduate or graduate—completed by alumni who join Kodak within five years of graduation, and who are presently completing five years of company service. Eastman Kodak is presenting unrestricted grants totaling $281,000 to 87 institutions this year.

The UNO award is based on the Kodak service record of Joseph L. Bends, a 1961 University graduate with a B.A. degree.

WE... THE STUDENTS

Constitution of the Students of the University of Nebraska at Omaha

PREAMBLE

We, the students of the University of Nebraska at Omaha, wishing to promote high standards of scholarship and citizenship, to be represented in dealings with faculty, administration, community and governmental authorities, and to have one supreme student governing body, do hereby establish and ordain this constitution for the administration of student government.

ARTICLE I Name

The name of student government shall be the Student Government Association of the University of Nebraska at Omaha, hereinafter referred to as SGA.

ARTICLE II Legislative Branch

Section 1 Name

There is hereby created a legislative branch which shall be designated the Student Senate.

Section 2 Membership

Clause 1: Number

The Student Senate shall consist of 30 senators.

Clause 2: Composition

The Student Senate shall be composed of two class representatives of the four respective classes, the graduate college, and 20 college and division (University Division, hereinafter referred to as division) representatives, and the Student Vice President shall sit as an ex-officio voting member. Each college and division shall be represented by one Senator. The remaining seats shall be apportioned to the number of students in each college and division. Each college and division shall receive at least one Senator from the apportioned seats.

Clause 3: Election

All Senators shall be elected in April with the exception of the representatives from the Freshman Class, the College of Continuing Studies, and the University Division who shall be elected in October of the same calendar year to serve a term of one calendar year.

Clause 4: Eligibility

To be eligible to seek or maintain Senatorial positions, college or division representatives must be enrolled in good standing as a full-time student, as defined by University regulations and be a member at the beginning of his term of office of the college or division that he was elected to represent. Class representatives must be enrolled in good standing as a full time student, as defined by University regulations, and shall seek that office for the academic classification they will enter upon completion of the semester. Class representatives may take office prior to the end of the semester but shall not be eligible to maintain office should they enter a class which they were not elected to represent.

Clause 5: Vacancies:

Senate vacancies shall be filled through an interim appointment from the same class or college or division through majority vote of the entire Senate. An all-school election shall be conducted to replace appointments during Senate elections in April and October or by a special election in January.

Section 3: Meetings

Clause 1: Regular Meetings

Regular meetings shall be held weekly throughout the academic year. The date and hour of those meetings shall be determined by each newly elected Senate.

Clause 2: Special Meetings

Special meetings may be called at anytime during the calendar year by the Student President or upon written request of ten members of the Senate or upon petition of 10% of the number voting in the previous Student Senate elections. All actions taken by the Senate during special meetings, including the summer periods, shall be entered into the code book. This shall be done without regard to the enrollment status of Senators during special meetings called in the summer.

Clause 3: Quorum

A quorum to do business shall consist of 16 Senators.

Section 4 Internal Organization

Clause 1: Officers

The officers of the Senate shall be a Speaker, Secretary, Parliamentarian, Sergeant-at-arms, and a Director of Records. These officers shall serve at the pleasure of the Senate.

Clause 2: Speaker

The speaker of the Senate shall be elected from among its membership. The Speaker, or his appointed representative, shall: (1) preside at all meetings of the Senate (2) communicate all Senate actions to the Student President for appropriate action (3) set the Senate agenda (4) supervise Senate committees (5) appoint all Senate committee chairmen, subject to  $\frac{2}{3}$  Senate approval (6) have the power to vote on all issues.

Clause 3: Secretary, Parliamentarian, Sergeant-at-arms

These officers shall be elected by the Senate from candidates within the Senate. They shall perform the duties customarily assigned to their offices.

Clause 4: Director of Records

The election of the Director of Records shall be from among candidates within or without the Senate. The Director shall: (1) prepare and keep current a codification of all by-laws, statutes, resolutions and motions of the Senate (2) cause to be printed such reports and documents as deemed necessary (3) serve as historian and archivist of the Senate (4) perform all other duties and functions incident to such office as determined by the Senate.

Section 5 Powers

The Senate shall have the power:

To prescribe the times, places, and manner of holding all student elections in which those elected represent the student body

To determine its committee structure

To petition the University Senate, the President, the Board of Regents, or any person, agency, or department within or without the University for redress of grievances

To be the sole body recommending to the University President the Student Activity Budget allocations

To grant approval of student organization fund-raising projects

To grant initial and final recognition to the creation of new student organizations, (with the approval from University President) without which no such group may use University facilities or be established in any way within the University

To regulate student organizations or student activity groups

To remove from office by  $\frac{2}{3}$  vote of the entire Senate, any Senator, Executive Officer, or Justice for continued unexcused absences or gross malfeasance of office

To request any appointed member of the Executive Branch to appear before it

To formulate all recommendations, policies, and by-laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers and all other powers vested by this constitution in the student government of the University of Nebraska at Omaha or in any agency or office thereof

ARTICLE III Executive Branch

Section 1 Officers

The executive officers shall be the Student President, the Student Vice-President, and the Executive Treasurer. These officers shall be collectively known as the Student Administration.

Section 2 Election

Candidates for President and Vice-President shall be listed together on a ballot and shall be elected in an all-student election two weeks prior to Senate elections to serve a term of one year. To be able to stand for election and serve as President and Vice-President, a student must be attending school in good standing on a full-time basis as defined by University regulations and must have completed at least 45 credit hours.

Section 3 Powers of the President

The President shall have the power:

To introduce business in the Senate designated as Executive Bills

To appoint subject to  $\frac{2}{3}$  Senate approval, students to University Senate Committees, agency heads, and all other appointed representatives of the Student Government and/or the student body

To establish a Budget Commission consisting of Student Senators and the Executive Treasurer subject to a  $\frac{2}{3}$  vote of the Senate

To approve or veto within seven days all motions and resolutions passed by the Senate. Vetoed actions may be overridden by  $\frac{2}{3}$  vote of the entire Senate

To appoint Student Court Justices and the Executive Treasurer, subject to  $\frac{2}{3}$  approval of the entire Senate

Section 4 Powers of the Vice-President

The Vice-President shall have the power:

To succeed the President should that office be vacated

To sit as an ex-officio voting member of the Senate

To assume those powers delegated to him by the President

Section 5 Powers of the Executive Treasurer

To determine and upon Senate approval effect ways and means of raising funds for student government

To report to the Senate the financial condition of student government

To act as chairman of the Student Budget Commission

To assume those powers delegated to him by the President

To perform those duties incident to his office

To monitor accounts of student organizations funded by the Student Activities Budget

ARTICLE IV Judicial Branch

Section 1 Name

There is hereby created a supreme court for the students of the University of Nebraska at Omaha which shall be designated as the Student Court.

Section 2 Composition

Clause 1: Student Court

The Student Court shall consist of one chief justice and four justices who shall be enrolled in good standing on a full-time basis at the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

Clause 2: Appointment

The justices shall be appointed by the President, upon  $\frac{2}{3}$  Senate approval, to serve throughout their full-time enrollment, in good standing, at the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

Section 3 Jurisdiction

The Student Court shall have jurisdiction over conflicts:

arising under this constitution

arising under by-laws, statutes, resolutions, and motions of the Senate arising between or within student organizations

arising through student elections

ARTICLE V Transfer of Functions

Section 1 Procedure

The Student President and Student Vice-President and Senators shall take office within one month after their election or appointment. Student Court Justices shall take office upon confirmation by the Senate.

Section 2 Oath of Office

Executive Officers, Student Senators, and Student Court Justices shall take office upon confirmation by the Senate.

Section 2 Oath of Office

Executive Officers, Student Senators, and Student Court Justices shall be sworn into office by the following oath: Upon my acceptance of office as ..... (name of office) ..... I realize that I have accepted obligations to, and responsibilities towards the students of the University of Nebraska at Omaha. I solemnly promise to act as a representative of the student body serving to benefit it at all times. I further promise to act in a manner that will always be a credit to the student body, seeking to promote high standards of leadership, scholarship, and citizenship.

ARTICLE VI Amendment

Section 1 Proposition

Amendments to this constitution may be proposed by a  $\frac{2}{3}$  vote of the Student Senate.

Section 2 Publication

Proposed amendments must be published and made available to the Student Body at least twice within 3 weeks prior to the opening of the polls.

A&S Committees Administrative Aids

By JO MARIE CECI

An Advisory Committee and an Educational Policy Committee were formed this fall to aid the College of Arts and Sciences.

Dean J. V. Blackwell said the purpose of the committees was, "to formulate the technique of faculty input to the decision making of the college."

The Advisory Committee was formed to advise the dean on matters initiated by the committee or by the faculty of the college of Arts and Sciences, on matters he refers to it, and on implementation of legislation. It will review the long run and general aspects of the college's activities, including staff and faculty requirements, and formulate legislation for presentation to the faculty. The committee will name the members of the Election Committee when necessary.

Committee to Recommend

The committee will receive from the dean the names of students who have completed the requirements for graduation. Faculty members of the committee are authorized to recommend to the University president, the chancellor, and the Board of Regents that respective degrees be awarded.

Tenured members of the Advisory Committee shall have general review responsibility and make recommendations concerning promotion, tenure and sabbatical policies within the college.

They will advise the dean, upon his request, on recommendations for advancements in rank, awards in tenure, and granting of sabbaticals. They shall serve as a Grievance Committee in matters concerning advancement, tenure, and general salary inequities, and shall make recommendations to the Dean based upon their findings.

Educational Policy Committee

The Educational Policy Committee will advise the dean on all matters of educational policy, and exercising general oversight of the college's academic standards. Recommending to the faculty proposed legislation concerning admission and graduation requirements, including changes in degree requirements, new programs, and new degrees, is another one of the committee's jobs.

The committee will also be authorized by the faculty to pass on student petitions for relief from college rules, and to determine addition of courses, deletion of courses, changes in course names and numbers. After acting under this authorization, the committee will circulate its decisions in writing to the faculty.

Both standing committees include as members three division representatives, three faculty, and three students. Members are not eligible for consecutive terms.

Student Members Too

Student members of the committees are Arts and Sciences upperclassmen with each of the divisions equally represented.

Current educational policy committee members are Dr. Roger Hoburg, chemistry; Dr. Richard Lane, English; Mr. Mark Rousseau, Sociology; and students Stephen Fortner, Thomas Penke and Ed Waechter.

Advisory Committee members are Dr. Francis Hurst, Psychology; Dr. Walter Linstromber, Chemistry; Miss Karen Thompson, Foreign Language; and students Jeannie Brayman, Denny Jorgenson and Mike Van De Walle.

Department Chairmen for both committees are Dr. A. S. Trickett, History; Dr. Clifford Anderberg, Philosophy and religion; and Professor John McMillan, Physics.

CUA Staff Forms Black Theater

Joan Baker, Center for Urban Affairs research assistant, is devoting much of her time to the organization of a Black Community Theater.

This project took on its beginning in October when Mrs. Baker elected to work on this as part of her job as research assistant. Mrs. Baker, along with Dr. John Nyle, director of the CUA staff, have formed a Black Community Theater.

"Hopefully funds can be obtained so a theater can actually be started after a Dec. 10 and 11 production," said Mrs. Baker. She went on to explain about the performance.

The play, "El Hajj Malik" written by N. R. Davidson, New Orleans playwright, features 10 characters consists of teens and adults from the community. Directors, from the University and community, include Mrs. Margaret Wade, Mrs. Pat Whitfield, Mr. Baker, Mrs. Mildred Hill and Mrs. Janette Jones. Dr. John Brilhart and Dr. Ed Cook of the University, have made suggestions to this group.

"The play depicts a dramatization of Malcom X's life" Mrs. Baker added. Sometime in each of the ten characters lives, they play the part of Malcom" she continued. The production will be held at a private club in North Omaha.

A group of professional actors will be featured from The Concept East Theater in Detroit. They will do a repertoire of 10 performances.

Angel Flight Collects Toys

Angel Flight will begin its annual Toys for Tots drive on December 1st. Barrels will be placed in each building for the toys to be deposited. There will be barrels marked for each organization as well as barrels for individuals. The organization that contributes the most toys will be awarded a trophy.

Arnold Air Society will assist Angel Flight in conducting the drive. The final day of the drive will be December 18th.

Marines will pick up the toys and distribute them to needy families, hospitals, and orphanages throughout the city. Games, dolls, and other toys are needed.

The drive will not be accompanied by a dance this year.

Stahmer . . . Senator

Grants Offered

Newly-elected State Senator David H. Stahmer, 8th Legislative District, has announced the granting of $250.00 in cash awards to be given to any college student or professor submitting constructive and innovative ideas for improving any aspect of state, county, city, school or college operations. The first place winner will receive $100; there will additionally be granted three awards of $50.00 each.

Entries should be sent to David Stahmer, 4913 Manderston St., Omaha, 68104, and post-marked no later than midnight, Dec. 4. Entries will be given code numbers so students will compete on the same level as a professor.

The money donated will be unsolicited campaign contributions given to Senator-elect Stahmer by well-wishers.

Primary consideration will be given to those constructive suggestions that would stand a chance of being adopted by the State Legislature. Each participant may submit as many entries as he chooses.

Implementation Begins On Commission Recognition

A steering committee has been formed to study and make recommendations for implementation of the report of the Regents' Commission on the Urban University in the '70's.

The first meeting of this committee was Nov. 9, under the chairmanship of President Kirk Naylor.

Members of the steering committee and the Regents' Commission, and the recommendations for which each will be responsible.

Dr. William Gaines, dean of academic affairs,

Recommendation 1: "UNO should develop new programs and provide new services focused upon community problems in order to offer fresh insight into these problems as well as to prepare trained personnel to engage in their solutions."

Recommendation 2: "The Commission recommends a massive expansion in the role of the University in the community through the establishment of an Institute for Police and Community Affairs."

John V. Blackwell, acting dean, College of Arts and Sciences,

Recommendation 3: "The Commission recommends that a community-University Council on the Creative and Performing Arts be established to furnish leadership in enlarging and strengthening existing programs and services in the performing arts field."

Dr. Paul C. Kennedy, dean, College of Education, part one,

President Naylor, parts two and three,

Thomas Majeski, University ombudsman and associate professor of art, part four,

Recommendation 4: "The Commission recommends the establishment of four coordinating and planning groups: one to be concerned with education at all levels; a second to oversee University programs; the third to serve as liaison between the city of Omaha and UNO; and a fourth to explore ways of providing meaningful relationships of students to the governing processes of the University."

Ralph Bradley, director of the Office of Information,

Recommendation 5: "The Commission recommends that the University give fresh attention to the kind of public information program necessary to enlighten the general public as to its aims and purposes and to interpret its current and future role to the people of the area."

Melvin Wade, coordinator of the Black Studies Program,

Recommendation 6: "The Commission recommends that UNO vigorously seek out disadvantaged and minority group students in order to expand education opportunities for them."

Dr. Ralph M. Wardle, The Albert W. Jefferis Professor of English,

Recommendation 7: "Bachelor degree programs should be considerably strengthened and broadened in coverage."

Dr. Richard E. Gibson, professor of civil engineering,

Recommendation 8: "UNO should undertake an expansion of associate degree programs of less than four years' duration."

Dr. Elton S. Carter, dean of the Graduate College,

Recommendation 9: "The Commission recommends that UNO strengthen present graduate programs and provide new post-baccalaureate offerings in carefully selected areas where the need is clearly demonstrated, is not now being adequately served, and would be more appropriately based on Omaha."

Dr. Wardle,

Recommendation 10: "The Commission recommends a continuation of broad liberal arts academic training as the core program at UNO."

Dr. Wayne M. Higley, professor of accounting, Recommendation 11: "UNO should explore with Omaha business and industry the possibility of greatly augmenting a work-study program for students, thus providing alternating periods of employment and study for those taking part in this program."

Dr. Wardle,

Recommendation 12: "UNO should place a special emphasis on experimental and innovative ways of improving the learning experience and academic programs."

Dr. Gene Newport, professor of management,

Recommendation 13: "The Commission recommends that the Regents support the administration in investing heavily in one or two special "pacemaker" programs having as their objective the attainment of national prominence and respect."

Dr. Gordon Becker, professor of psychology,

Recommendation 14: "The Commission recommends that UNO establish a University College to assist in the expansion of bachelor degree programs as well as those of shorter duration."

Dr. Floyd Waterman, professor of education,

Recommendation 15: "The Commission recommends that UNO bring educational opportunities to the people by further expansion and development of instruction in program centers away from the main campus."

Robert Runice, vice president of Northwestern Bell Telephone Company,

Recommendation 16: "The Commission recommends that the University join with other parties in seeking to develop a community foundation in Omaha."

President Naylor,

Recommendation 17: "The Commission recommends that UNO commit itself to imaginative, economical and wise use of its resources."

President Naylor,

Recommendation 18: "The Commission recommends that the Unicameral be requested to set up a minimum of $250,000 per year for commitment to new and innovative programs and as an offset to any deficits they might incur in their first years."

President Naylor, Dean Gaines, and Dean Carter,

Recommendation 19: "The Commission recommends that UNO prepare a master plan for educational development that assigns accountability for effective outcomes, and includes performance standards with which the measure actual progress toward achievement of University goals."

Dr. Rex Engebretson, director of campus planning and space utilization,

Recommendation 20: "Finally the Commission recommends that immediate action be taken to resolve the twin problems of space for educational and parking purposes."

Mrs. Barbara Coffey, assistant dean of student personnel, is executive secretary for the task force.

Members of the steering committee have asked that members of the University family who have a special interest in specific recommendations send their comments to the committee member responsible for the recommendation.

Indian Potpourri

A lot of people around the University who are interested in athletics may be wondering how the Indian football did attendance wise. Well, here is the run down for home and away games:

AWAY	HOME
At South Dakota ..... 9,500	Morningside ..... 5,125
At Drake ..... 13,250	Wayne State ..... 5,780
At Northern Colorado ..... 4,250	Southern Colorado ..... 5,784
At Fort Hays ..... 6,500	Emporia State ..... 3,320
At Pittsburg ..... 4,100	Washburn ..... 1,980

On the average, UNO played before 7,920 fans on the road while playing in front of 4,398 Indian supporters at home. Maybe next year we'll fill up the stands.

Injury Halts Wise

A shoulder injury prevented Indian running back Phil Wise from rushing 1,000 yards this year. The talented Wise ran for 983 yards in 10 games, just 24 yards short of breaking Bill Englehardt's rushing record of 2,152 yards. The way he was running against Washburn, he could have easily broken the record.

Football Aftermath

Now that football season is over, it is apparent the Indians will have to fill some holes due to graduation. The defensive front four is gone except for Bill Kozel. The offensive line will have to be rebuilt. Hopefully, Marty Piotrowski and Ross Volberding will return to the Indian squad for spring ball.

Even though spring practice is five months away, the Indians have already voted on the squad captains for the 1971 season. Congratulations go to co-captains Al Pallone and Billy Walker.

The Indian football team also voted on outstanding offensive and defensive players. The awards on offense went to Wise and Pat Ryan, and on defense to Mel Washington and Tim McGill. The outstanding freshman player on the squad for 1970 is Willie Bob Johnson.

In a final football note, all NAIA District 11 Football picks will be coming out this weekend. Indian seniors Washington, Wise and Ryan are top contenders for this honor.

Cagers, Grapplers Preview

Well, basketball and wrestling are just around the corner. Get in on the sneak preview of two outstanding teams. Coach Bob Hanson's cagers go at it tonight in their annual intrasquad match. Top returning lettermen to watch include Arthur Allen, Mark Langer, Paul Sieczkowski, Jim Scott and Rick Gwaltney.

Saturday night Coach Don Benning's grapplers will tangle as the Reds meet the Blacks in what should be an exciting evening for wrestling buffs. Top returning lettermen include Washington, Bernie Hospodka, Dennis Cozad, Landy Waller, Paul Martinez, Rick Emsick and Gary Kipfmiller.

Amateur Wrestling News, out of Oklahoma City has come out with its pre-season NAIA Wrestling Ratings and here they are:

1. University of Nebraska at Omaha	6. Bloomsburg State
2. Winona State	7. River Falls State
3. Upper Iowa	8. Wayne State
4. Adams State	9. Central Washington
5. Westmar	10. Waynesburg

Let's hope Benning's Boys live up to this high ranking. The pressure will be on them all season because no matter what the sport is, everyone is always trying to knock off the number one team.

Hanson ... in his second year.

Intramural News

Well, Intramural Flag Football followers, the season has been extended again! This time it's not miserable playing conditions, but deadlocks in two leagues.

Last Monday, DFT's and N.Y.D.B. victories resulted in a four-way tie in league one, and knotted league two. Anyhow, what's football without a muddled season end?

Pikes drew a bye into today's championship game, and represent the all Fraternity League One. The Pike opponent should be the up and coming Patriots. This, of course, is an educated guess. Due to press deadlines the results of all playoff games are not available, however, full coverage will be intact in the first Gateway issue after Thanksgiving Vacation.

Today's match is slated for 3:30; it should prove to be interesting remembering that the Pike-eligible opponents did not meet during the regular season.

Curling Club

Intramural Director Bert Kurth has announced the formation of a Faculty Curling Club at UNO. Anyone interested in joining should contact Kurth at Fieldhouse extension 670.

The club will meet Friday afternoons at 3:30 at the Ak-Sar-Ben Curling Club. The first meeting is scheduled for Nov. 20.

Officials Needed

Men's intramurals department needs officials for intramural basketball in evenings. Officials will be paid for their services. If you are interested, contact Mr. Bert Kurth, Fieldhouse office 15, extension 67.

Cagers Warm Up For St. Benedicts

UNO fans will get another look at the completely remodeled Fieldhouse tonight at 7:30. Coach Bob Hanson's Indian cagers take to the court in their annual Varsity-Junior Varsity contest.

Returning from last year's RMAC Championship team will be five lettermen led by high-scoring Arthur Allen.

The starting varsity line-up will have four lettermen on the court at tip-off. The non-letterman will be either Butch Taylor, a 6-4 sophomore or Henry Berry, a talented 6-2 freshman. The remainder of the unit will be made up of Allen, a 6-2 senior forward, Rick Gwaltney, a 6-5 senior center and 6-3 junior Paul Sieczkowski and 6-1 sophomore Mark Langer at the guards. Jim Scott, a 6-4 sophomore forward, was a probable starter until a sprained ankle in practice sidelined him.

The remainder of the varsity squad is made up of Bob Kennedy, a 6-3 junior; Merlin Renner, a 6-9 junior; Daryl Peterson, a 6-0 sophomore and Dave Ksiazek, a 5-9 sophomore.

Papoose Coach Jim Seward will counter with Calvin Forrest, 6-5 and either Bob Graf 6-2 or Dave Potter 6-4 at the forward spots and Jim Janovsky 6-6 at the post. The starting guards for the freshmen will be Dennis Riley, 6-1 and John Nichols, 5-10.

Coach Hanson said the purpose of the game is to give both the varsity and the junior varsity squads valuable game experience.

Coach Hanson also said he is looking forward to a wide open game with plenty of offense. He expects both squads to use a pressing type defense.

St. Benedicts First Regular Season For Indians

The St. Benedicts Ravens will be the first regular season foe for the UNO Indians as the two teams clash in the UNO

Fieldhouse Tuesday night, Dec. 1 at 7:30 p.m.

The Ravens are led by All-American forward Chic Downing, who at 6-7 is on his way to breaking all of St. Benedicts career scoring marks. Downing is joined up front by 6-4 Jay Williams at the other forward spot and 6-7 Don Dallas at the post. This trio of starters is joined by Bob Kolick, 6-2 and Scott Carlin, 6-0 for the guard positions.

The Ravens have seven lettermen and three starters returning from the NAIA semi-finalist team of last year that clipped the Indians in the season opening game.

The Ravens play a completely different style of game than the Indians. They are a more deliberate team that prefers to work the ball to their big men inside.

Hanson hopes to offset the St. Benedict height advantage with a tough pressing defense complemented by a fast breaking offense.

The game should be interesting to watch. The previous UNO-St. Benedicts contests have turned out to be nothing short of thrillers. Last year's contest was an example of this as the two teams were tied throughout most of the game until the end of the second half. At that point St. Benedicts pulled away to win by sixteen points in front of a home court crowd. Maybe this year will see a reversal of that contest with the Indians on top at the final buzzer.

UNO Foe Gains RMC Playoff

Pittsburg (Kan.) State and Northern Colorado, both conquerors of UNO, won final Rocky Mountain Conference football games last Saturday.

Pittsburg defeated Emporia State, 45-14, in Emporia and Northern Colorado invaded Fort Hays and came away with a 55-34 victory.

By virtue of its win, Pittsburg will be the Plains Division representative against the Mountain Division champ Western New Mexico in the RMC playoff tilt scheduled tomorrow.

Although both NC and the Gorillas had 4-1 division records, Pittsburg bested the Colorado crew, 34-14 on Oct. 17.

Debut Of NAIA Champs

Coach Don Benning has eight starters back from last year's all-victorious squad. Lost are three-time NAIA champ Roy Washington and RMAC champ Bruce Strauss. Washington has graduated and Strauss is only a part-time student.

The Indians, the only team to bring national prominence to UNO, have the following wrestlers returning:

PAUL MARTINEZ is a sophomore from Omaha South High School. After winning two Nebraska State Championships under coach Beauford Haizlip at South, Martinez spent four years in the service. This is his second year back on campus.

Martinez had an 11-2 record last year. This year will be a question mark for him, though. Recovering from knee surgery, he will not be able to start the season with the Indians. It is hoped that he will rejoin the national championship squad by the first of the year.

DENNIS COZAD had a 12-2 record at 126 pounds for the Indians. With great quickness and desire as assets, Cozad came to UNO from Omaha Benson High School. A junior, Cozad has a career record of 24-8. After a fine prep career, Cozad capped his freshman season by placing fourth in the NAIA championships.

LANDY WALLER, a junior, had an outstanding year at 134 pounds. Last year's record of 11-1-1 included a first place in the RMAC Tourney and a third place finish in the NAIA. Waller's career record now stands at 37-4-3. A native of Cedar Rapids, Ia., Waller established himself as a winner in his freshman year. Quickness and a good sense of balance make Waller one of UNO's finest.

JORDAN SMITH is a sophomore from Dubuque, Ia. He took first in the RMAC Tourney and had a 7-6 record as a freshman. Wrestling at 158 pounds, Smith improved throughout the season. The culmination of his hard work and improvement came in his conference championship. Smith came to UNO with fine credentials. He had a 26-0 record as a senior in high school and won the Iowa State Championship in his weight.

RICH EMSICK is a senior on the Indian squad. After graduating from Omaha Ryan High School, Emsick enrolled at Adams State College in Colorado. After transferring to UNO, he worked his way into a regular spot. As a sophomore, Emsick took third in the conference tournament. Last year he posted a 10-3 record and moved up to second at the RMAC Championships. Wrestling at 167 pounds, Emsick has a 17-6 career record at UNO. A fine competitor, Emsick works hard and should have a fine season this year.

MEL WASHINGTON is also one of Benning's seniors. With a career record of 56-3 and a dual-meet record of 14-0 last year, Washington is sure to be one of UNO's greats. He took conference honors last year and was second at the NAIA Tournament. Washington captured the NAIA title as a sophomore, but was defeated in the finals last year.

Young brother of Roy Washington, Mel has established himself as a great wrestler in his own right. With great strength and balance, Mel is able to make short work of many of his opponents.

Outstanding quickness is also one of Mel's assets. After taking numerous honors on UNO's football team, Washington cut weight to get down to his 177-pound slot for wrestling. Washington is a native of Rochester, N.Y. His exciting wrestling style delights all crowds.

BERNIE HOSPODKA capped an outstanding sophomore year by grabbing first place at the NAIA Championships. The 190-lb. junior is from Omaha Ryan High School. Last year's record of 13-1 gave Hospodka a career mark of 24-3. Hospodka uses his outstanding knowledge of the sport to supplement his good speed, strength and quickness. With all his other attributes, Hospodka's best is his desire to win.

GARY KIPFMILLER tops the list of Benning's returning stars. Kipfmiller is UNO's 300 plus pound heavyweight. For a man his size, Kipfmiller has excellent quickness. After posting a 9-0-2 record last year, Kipfmiller took third place at the NAIA Tourney and second in the Conference Tournament. A native of Saginaw, Mich. Kipfmiller has a 23-6-2 record at UNO.

Kipfmiller uses his weight and strength to pin many of his opponents. He should have a fine junior year.

Returning Lettermen

Other lettermen on the Indian squad are Lou Rotella and Jerry Newville. Wrestling at 126 pounds, Rotella has found himself behind Dennis Cozad for the starting spot. Rotella is a sophomore from Omaha Ryan and has a record of 0-2.

Jerry Newville is a senior from Omaha South High School. Although he didn't wrestle for the Indians last year, Newville has a career record of 3-3 at UNO. Newville can wrestle at both 158 and 167 pounds.

Junior College Transfers

Three junior college transfers will also be on hand to wrestle for the Indians. Nate Phillips is a transfer student from Northern Oklahoma Junior College. Wrestling at 142 pounds, Phillips has finished in second and fourth places in the National JUCO Tournament. Phillips is a junior.

Quentin Horning is a sophomore from McCook Junior College. A native of Kansas, Horning finished sixth in the JUCO Tourney.

Also from McCook Junior College is sophomore Tony Ross. Ross graduated from Omaha Central before enrolling at McCook. He was a Nebraska State Champ his senior year in high school.

Indian Rookies Promising

A promising crop of Indian rookies is also present. Two-time Nebraska Champ Lou Kessler is among Benning's hopefuls. Kessler is from Bellevue, Nebraska, and will wrestle at 134 pounds.

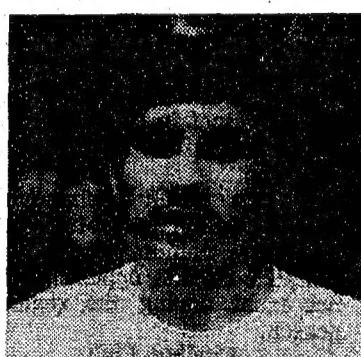

Another Nebraska Champ on the UNO campus is Tom Vincentini. A graduate of Omaha Central, Vincentini wrestles at 177 pounds.

Coming from Abraham Lincoln High School in Council Bluffs is Tim Taylor. Taylor wrestles at 118 pounds and is an Iowa state titleholder.

State runners-up in Nebraska include Ray Brust, Guy Urban, and Dale Rubesh. They wrestle at 177, heavyweight and 190 pounds, respectively.

Toughest Slate in UNO History Facing NAIA Championship Team

UNO's Indian grapplers face the toughest schedule in history this year. Everyone will be trying to knock off the defending conference and National Champions.

The Indians are faced with the problem of improving on a perfect record. Unbeaten last year, the Indians whipped 14 consecutive dual meet victories. They also took top honors in the First Annual UNO Invitational, the RMAC Championships and the NAIA Finals.

Victories last year included the perennial powers of Iowa U. (in tournament) and Northern Colorado. Also on the lower end of the score in competition with UNO was the powerhouse squad of Athletes in Action. The closest any team came to UNO's grapplers was Athletes in Action. The Indians defeated them, 19-14.

UNO had six victories by at least 30 points. Included in these six were four by at least 40 points.

16 Dual Meets Face Indians

Highlighting this year's schedule are 16 dual meets and four tournaments. Two of the tournaments and eight meets are at home.

Opening the season on Nov. 27 and 28 is the UNO Invitational. In addition to UNO, there are seven other schools participating. Included in these are Westmar, Augsburg, South Dakota, Montana State, Nebraska, Emporia State and North Dakota State.

Other than UNO, contenders for the tournament championship include North Central champion North Dakota State and Big Sky power Montana State.

In its second year, the UNO Invitational has become the kick-off point in Coach Don Benning's season. UNO won its own tournament last year.

Dual competition includes long time eastern power Navy. This year's grapplers are the first to face a service academy in competition.

They Fight the Navy

The Indians face Annapolis during a ten-day trip to the East Coast. The trip starts with a dual meet with Northern Ohio on Jan. 9. Navy meets UNO on Jan. 13. The Indians then move to South Orange, N.J., to face Seton Hall. The eastern trip ends with a dual meet with Montclair State on Jan. 16.

The unbelievably tough Rocky Mountain Conference race appears to be a titanic struggle between the "Big Four" of UNO, Western State, Northern Colorado and Adams State. The Indians face all three in both dual meet competition and conference tournament.

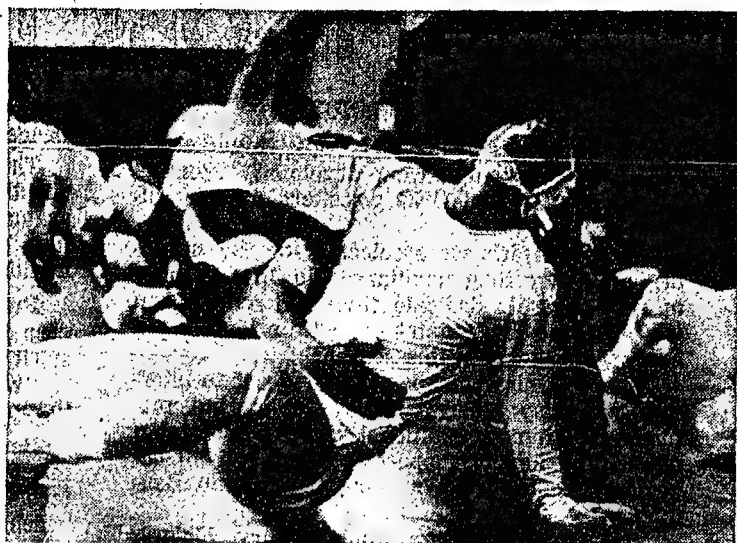

This year's Rocky Mountain Conference tournament is in Omaha on Feb. 26 and 27. The Indians finished first last year with Western State, Northern Colorado and Adams State following.

Six RMAC Champs Return

UNO has six of last year's place finishers returning. These include champions Landy Waller, Jordan Smith and Mel Washington. Second place finishers were Rich Emsick, Bernie Hospodka and Gary Kipfmiller.

Other important home meets for the Indians include Wayne State, Northeast Missouri and Eastern Illinois.

This year's NAIA Championships are being held in Boone, N.C. The Indians, the first place squad last year, have four place finishers returning. These are Bernie Hospodka, first; Mel Washington, second; and Landy Waller and Gary Kipfmiller, third.

Coach Benning puts his grapplers through a vigorous workout in preparation for the upcoming season. This Indian wrestler looks like he is praying for some help.

Tomorrow Night

Champs Open Year With Squad Pairings

UNO students and faculty will have their first chance to watch the defending national championship wrestling team in action tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. All action will be in the newly remodeled Fieldhouse.

Those attending will have their first chance to see the returning lettermen in action. National champion Bernie Hospodka, second place finisher

Mel Washington and third place finishers Landy Waller and Gary Kipfmiller will all see action.

Coach Don Benning also has six RMAC Championship place finishers returning.

In addition to the many returning lettermen, three junior college transfers and numerous freshman will make their debut.

Benning Names Wrestling Aides

UNO wrestling coach Don Benning has announced that Curlee Alexander, former UNO wrestler and NAIA national champion will assist in the wrestling coaching duties. Also assisting Benning will be Bill Danenhauer.

Danenhauer came to UNO in the Spring of 1970. Before joining the UNO staff, he had a successful coaching career at Adams City High School in Colorado.

In addition to his wrestling duties, Danenhauer handles the defensive line and line-backer chores on UNO's football team.

In his second year of assisting Benning, Alexander culminated a great career at UNO after the 1968-69 season. Alexander succeeded in attaining his goal of NAIA National Champion. He had a career record of 63-13-1 during his four years at UNO.

Benning is in his eighth year at UNO. He has the winningest record in UNO history (72-23-3.)

Last year he led the Indians to both the RMAC Championship and the NAIA Championship. The Indians were second in the NAIA the two previous seasons.

The 33-year old Benning was a mat and gridiron standout at Omaha University until his graduation in 1958. He took over the head coaching job in wrestling in 1963, and has brought the program national prominence.

Benning has produced many outstanding wrestlers during his tenure. Among these are:

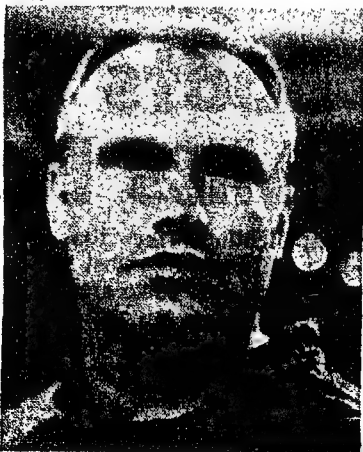

Carl West, NAIA sixth place finisher in 1964; Jim Jones, outstanding heavyweight that same year; and more recently, Roy and Mel Washington, Wendell Hakanson, Alexander, Bernie Hospodka and Reggie Williams.

Benning is also offensive line coach on the football team.

A life long resident of Omaha, Benning and his wife have three children. He received his Masters Degree from Omaha in 1961 and is currently working on his doctorate.

$1 Admission Fee At Intrasquad Game

Students, faculty members and all UNO employees will be charged an admission price of one dollar for the basketball and wrestling intrasquad contests this weekend.

This is the only time this year except for Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference Championships and NAIA events that the University community will be charged an admission price.

The money taken in from this weekend's activities will go into grant-in-aid funds for basketball and wrestling. This is the reason why there is a price admission for these events.

The basketball and wrestling intrasquad matches will start at 7:30 p.m.

The Athletic Department requests all persons to use the West Entrance of the Fieldhouse on Friday and Saturday nights.

Competition Tough In UNO Invitational

The second annual UNO Invitational wrestling Tournament begins Nov. 27.

There will be four sessions, two on Friday and two on Saturday. Preliminary action is at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. on Friday. Consolation rounds begin at 6 p.m. on Saturday. Immediately following the consolations, at about 8:30 the finals will begin. Students may use their activity cards for admittance to the tournament.

UNO, defending champion of the tourney, will be joined by seven other schools. They are: Westmar, Augsburg (Minn.), South Dakota, Montana State, Nebraska, Emporia State and North Dakota State.

Coach Benning feels the competition will be tough in this tournament. Benning says Westmar, Augsburg and Montana State could come up with some surprises.

Westmar is ranked fifth in the NAIA pre-season Top Ten and Augsburg is ranked in the Top Twenty.

'Pin-Ops' Lend Cheering Power

By ROBIN McNUTT

Put the words "Pin" and "Ops" together divided by a dash and what develops? "Pin the Opposition," a goal UNO wrestlers aim to fulfill.

Seventeen girls were selected for the newly-organized wrestling auxiliary, Pin-Ops, because of willingness to dedicate time and enthusiasm to UNO wrestling matches and to give extra support to wrestlers this season.

"The organization was originated not to interfere with any other campus groups, but primarily to promote additional school spirit, team enthusiasm and to support the team on all occasions," said UNO Wrestling Coach Don Benning.

Pin-Ops officers are Junior Mary Ehlers, president; Freshman Evelyn Evert, vice president and Junior Betsy Parks, secretary.

Other members include Senior Donna Hiers, Juniors Joyce Klingforth and Gladys Pruitt.

Also, Sophomores Debi Gruidel, Sue Jaksich, Mary Jochim, Peggy Kansler, Wendi Meyer, Linda Miller and Jan Nemecek will participate in Pin-Ops activities.

Freshmen representatives are Sue Hale, Lyn Langenfeld, Sharon Russell and Krista Wilcox.

The girls will serve as hostesses for all home wrestling matches. They will distribute programs about UNO and the team to wrestling fans, act as score-runners and work for the promotion of public relations among schools.

President Mary Ehlers said, "Our main purpose is to support the squad, and to promote spirit around school and the Omaha area.

"We will act as a catch-all, helping during the matches in any way we can."

Benning presented a special clinic, Nov. 1, for members of Pin-Ops, reviewing wrestling terms, rules and the executional movements which will occur during matches.

Perhaps the most looked forward to event is the NAIA tournament to be held in Boone, N.C.

Providing the girls can raise enough money, have proper supervision and the okay of the administration, the girls will attend.

Focusing on this tournament, March 11-13, the auxiliary has several money raising projects ready.

One of the projects is selling five dollar subscriptions, consisting of six issues with information on the wrestlers and their opponents to UNO fans. The subscriptions will be sold at home matches.

Duties began for the Pin-Ops Saturday, Nov. 14 when a clinic was held at UNO for high schools throughout Nebraska.

Coaches, officials and wrestlers numbering 255 were greeted, registered and served by members of the new organization.

Future plans include similar duties to be performed at the Thanksgiving UNO Invitational, Nov. 27 and 28. Participating teams will include Upper Iowa, Westmar, South Dakota University, University of Nebraska, North Dakota State, Montana State, Emporia State and UNO.

Each girl will host one of the visiting universities competing in the Thanksgiving Invitational.

The wrestling season will begin with the Intersquad match, Saturday night, 7:30, Nov. 21 in the UNO Fieldhouse.

Come and help the Pin-Ops support a team that is determined to "Pin the Opposition."

Tomahawk Beauties Selected Next Week

Final count shows 88 girls, a new record, applied in the Tomahawk Beauty Pageant sponsored by the Gateway.

The first phase of the contest—the photo elimination—will take place over Thanksgiving vacation.

The top vote getters on the basis of judging by professional photographers, professional models and members of the news media, will enter the semi-final elimination.

The Tomahawk contest is slated for Dec. 15, in the Student Center Ballroom.

. . . And Girl Watchers

Wrestling Queen Vote Tomorrow at Match

Voting for the UNO Wrestling Invitational Queen will be held this Saturday, November 21 at the Intrasquad Wrestling Match in the UNO Fieldhouse. All students, full and part time, are eligible to vote for one of the girls by showing their I.D. card. The candidates will be introduced at the match for all the voters to view. The top vote getter will reign as UNO Wrestling Invitational Queen with the next four vote getters reigning as Princesses on the Queen's Court. The queen and her court will be announced next Monday, November 23 in the fieldhouse.

The Queen and her court will then reign over the UNO Wrestling

Invitational on November 27th and 28th. A gift certificate will be presented to the Queen. She will also award the medals to the winning wrestlers at the finals on November 28th.

The following girls turned in Wrestling Queen applications and will be vying for the title of UNO Wrestling Invitational Queen tomorrow night in the Fieldhouse: Peggy Emsick, Belya Erwin, Kathi Jo Gustafson, Carol Herink, Sue Jaksich, Robin McNutt, Wendi Meyer, Linda Miller, Jan Nemecek, Betsy Parks, Mary Beth Twohey, Gaylene Wagman, Carmen White, and Kris Wiczorek. You must be at the wrestling match in order to vote.

Boots Seek Applicants for Miss Pen, Sword Contest

Applications for the Miss Pen and Sword contest will be accepted Nov. 30 to Dec. 5.

The contest will be open to any single female full time student at UNO. Applicants must be remaining in the University through the spring semester.

Applications must be submitted to the Board of Directors or to 301A MBSC. Applications must be one typewritten page including name, age, major, telephone number, class standing, vocational goals, University activities, and an answer in about 25 words to "Why I would like to be Miss Pen and Sword."

All applicants will be judged by a panel of seven judges, who will be selected by drawing. The panel will select five finalists who will appear at the next General Membership meeting. The winner and runner up will be voted on by the General Membership.

The winner and the runner-up will be selected on the basis of poise, charm, attractiveness, and maturity. The selected winner will be expected to represent the Pen and Sword Society at designated University and Student activities.

The winner will receive a $75

Savings Bond and a trophy. The runner-up will receive a $50 Savings Bond and a plaque. A large plaque will be established with a plate for the name of each yearly winner.

The winner, the runner-up, and their dates will be invited to attend the Pen and Sword Society Fall Formal at Peony Park on Dec. 19. The winner will ride the Pen and Sword Float in the Ma-ie-Day Parade and will represent the Pen and Sword at other Ma-ie Day activities.

Voting by the general membership will be conducted on Tuesday, Dec. 15.

Co-op Computer Service Studied

By SUE PETERSON

An investigation of the problems of a thoroughly coordinated computer service between UNO, N.U., and the University of Nebraska Medical Center will start within the next three weeks, according to Jerry Kilgore, assistant director of programming systems at UNO.

Results of the investigation will hopefully suggest a computer service that will replace the proposed Univac 1106 for UNO.

Chancellor Durward Varner has selected a consultant to investigate the problems and to recommend a new system. The name of the consultant will be released in the near future. His recommendations will be submitted to the Board of Regents for approval and then submitted to computer vendors for bids.

UNIVAC Nixed

The idea of a coordinated computer service was suggested by the State Department of Administrative Services, which would not approve the recommendation for the Univac 1106 by UNO's computer selection committee.

"Last year we began considering what to do to replace our existing equipment," said Kilgore. "We intended to merge the Computing Center with the Data Processing Center, which did the University's bookkeeping. We wanted to replace the two computers with one."

An appointed computer selection committee selected the Univac 1106 to replace the present equipment. "The total cost of the new computer over a seven-year period would have been $1.5 million," said Kilgore. "Our present monthly budget is $20,000. We could have operated the new computer for about $19,600 a month. We could have gotten a much better deal for the same amount of money."

State Suggests Study

The Univac 1106 could have handled the entire present computer load in 25 per cent of its capacity, leaving 75 per cent for additional services. The recommendation was approved by the chancellor and the Board of Regents, but was not approved by the Department of Administrative Services, who suggested that a study be made of the possibilities of a coordinated computer service.

The coordinated service is plausible, according to Kilgore, but he doubts that any one of the campuses will see a time when they have no local computer.

The department did not suggest where the centralized system would be, but Varner did specify the computer would be directly under his authority, rather than under any one of the three campuses.

There has been some discussion of the pros and cons of a centralized system. "It would be a little less convenient for us," said Kilgore. "There would be communication links between the computer port if it was in Lincoln."

Harold Neville, vice-chancellor for business and finance, is in charge of the project. He hopes a proposal can be presented before the Board of Regents by February.

'Sergeant Musgraves' Slated Dec. 11, 12, 13

Sergeant Musgrave's Dance by John Arden is scheduled as the next University Theater play. A contemporary drama set in Northern England in the late 19th century, it is particularly applicable to 20th century America, because it deals with a small group's attempts to end war.

Four soldiers enter a coal-mining town that is in the grips of a strike. The miners and other townspeople assume the soldiers are present to control the workers in the case of violence. But as the play unfolds, the audience learns that Musgrave and his three soldiers have deserted, and are in hiding and have come to this particular town for a definite and bizarre reason.

They believe the people of this town, when presented with a truth Musgrave carries, will rise and lead the country and the world in a great movement against war. In the end, however, it is Musgrave who faces death.

The play will be presented Dec. 11, 12 and 13 under the direction of Robert Moore.

Registration Note

Registration began today for next semester and will continue through Dec. 18 for all currently enrolled and inter-campus students. Registration packets are now available in the Deans' offices.

All students must make appointments to see their counselors. Tuition and fees may be paid at the time of registration or on an assigned payment date. Failure to pay at the designated time will result in the forfeit of the student's registration. Students who pre-register will not be able to change their programs before Jan. 29.

Final registration will be Jan. 27 through 29.

MUP Volunteer Cares

Don Hart is a freshman in the University Division. He came to the Manpower Office apprehensively. Hart felt a need to help somehow, but was afraid there would be no place for him because he wasn't skilled in a specific area.

Don was encouraged to go on and volunteer in the area where he showed a great deal of sincere concern. He did and has now joined the ranks of thousands of volunteers across the nation who learned that the most important aspect of helping is just caring to do.

Skills an Asset

Skills are an asset to any volunteer job and required in some, but the key is a real concern about the problems of today and a readiness to help work solutions. That is what the community needs from you. Join Don Hart in caring enough to do.

Hart was chosen as the volunteer of the week for November

23rd through 27th. He said: "My part in being a volunteer through Manpower for Urban Progress is done at Nebraska Psychiatric Institute. I'm just a beginner in volunteering, but I'm where I feel I'm doing something for mankind."

"I'm working with kids our own age who have emotional problems. During the day they get from doctors and psychiatrists, but they also need someone to talk to in the evenings. That's where I come in. My job is just to be a friend, to talk about things, and to get the mto join in things like playing pool, building model cars, and other numerous activities. It is really enjoyable as I give of my time and receive the joy of helping."

Manpower for Urban Progress works with Nebraska Psychiatric Institute and many other places all over Omaha. Manpower for Urban Progress sends volunteers into the community who care to do. They work with underprivileged children and adults, the mentally retarded, senior citizens, the physically and mentally ill. If you want to join the increasing number who volunteer their services in these . . . if you want to help . . . come to room 301C MBSC or call campus extension 620 today or soon!

The people who take a load off your stomach now take a load off your feet.

Alka-Seltzer® always helped bring you fast relief from too much to eat or drink. Now Alka-Seltzer helps bring you fast relief for tired feet. Just send us $3.00. That's all. And we'll send you an inflatable hassock made of heavy-duty wipe-clean blue and white vinyl. In the shape of an Alka-Seltzer tablet.

Let your tired, aching feet sink into its soft folds. Use it for a back rest. A wobbly volley ball. A pop sculpture. Or one-third of a couch.

We weren't happy just to help relieve your upset stomach; heartburn; acid indigestion; headache; sore, stiff, aching muscles and discomforts due to too much to eat or drink.

Now we can help your feet get back on their feet again.

Please send me Alka-Seltzer® Hassocks at $3.00 each.

The Plastic Factory

Within the universe, a stately building stands,
That reaches high and far and wide over cosmic lands,
Yet small within celestial realm still one can see,
It's title on the fireze, "The Plastic Factory."

While entering you stop to look around and find,
A multi-billion toys or more, of different kinds,
One following another in hopeless climb,
They seem contented in this game, and race with time.

The shapes they constitute are from assorted molds,
Their colors shine in blacks and reds and whites and golds,
As scurrying models parade around the floor,
Not knowing where they are nor what they're looking for.

One light is all there is to heat the darkened cell,
It goes from bright to dim at times one can foretell,
The toys, they usually run about in light,
Then hide in slumbered stillness, from the dark'ning blight.

The games they play are quite unique in form and yet,
The mold is named Deceive and Steal; and Beget
The rarity of daily play is lack of rules,
Which sparks the self-destruction of the plastic fools.

When selves become destructed by the deadly games,
And stationary prisons haunt their hollow frames,
They fall into the base meat where life has met its rest,
And plastic turns to dust, with all its faults confessed.

'Um' Is Important

'Um' means a many many things,
It flies from throat as is with wings,
It pops between a lot of words,
And makes some speeches quite absurd.

For all you hear is "um, um, um,"
And 'ums' some more since they've begun,
And more and when you think they've stopped,
Here comes an 'um,' that can't be topped.

With such alight 'um' clothes a mood,
And 'um' becomes a person's food,
He needs it to survive the day,
And some souls use it when they pray.

'Um' makes a man of sprightly wit,
When this he knows, he doesn't quit,
And 'um' appears more than before,
Bet you can't guess what he's in store.

And when he throws an 'um' at you,
You don't know what your heart should do,
But sit and drench the intellect,
And grasp 'um's' wisdom with respect.

You, as students of this University, will be able to vote on this new proposed constitution Dec. 9 and 10.

Fats and Dave perform Monday and Tuesday evenings.

One Mind, 2 Voices, 21 Fingers

Fats and Dave are headlining the SPO-sponsored coffeehouse Monday and Tuesday evening.

Fats Johnson and Dave McIntosh come out of Kansas City, but their backgrounds go far beyond. Dave was in the Greenwood Countysingers and writing for the Smothers Brothers Show before teaming with Fats. Fats played with the Back Porch Majority, and was lead singer of the New Christy Minstrels.

They began working together as members of the Kirby Stone Four. Their toned-down performance and sharp wit has made Fats and Dave a rewarding campus attraction.

Appearing with Fats and Dave during Coffeehouse will be a group of actors from the Sweetness and Light Theatre, 1015 Howard Street. Ron Douglas, Tom Scherochman and Pat Proft will present scenes from their new production — "Sex, Hate and Violence—The American Dream."

Sweetness and Light presents satire, plus stand-up comedy monologue routines.

The Coffeehouse will be 8:00-11:00 Nov. 23 and 24. Admission is free for full-time students, 75c for part-time and $1.50 for non-students.

Coffeehouse, this time has been moved from the Ouampi Room to the first floor Cafeteria in the Student Center. Coffeehouse director Scott Darling says they couldn't fit everybody in who wanted to go last time.

As before, various flavors of coffee and tea will be sold, as will cookies and donuts.

Dribble Dribble

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity will stage a basketball dribble on Dec. 1, the night of the first game, to boost spirit in UNO basketball.

The group will start at 16th and Dodge and dribble to the Fieldhouse arriving just before the game starts at 7:30.

Mayor Eugene Leahy will proclaim that week as "UNO Basketball Week," and the dribble is just part of that week.

The dribble was a Greek idea, but that doesn't mean that everyone can't try to boost UNO spirit. So be there at the game on Dec. 1 and watch UNO kill the Ravens from St. Benedicts.

Notice anything peculiar? The Gateway noticed approximately 30 signs on Fairacres Road and No. 62nd St. on Tuesday evening. The white space indicates the word "Parking" has been erased. Upon closer look, it was discovered shaving cream was the culprit. How will the city take this?

IFC Sponsors Drive To Warm Up Winter

"It Hurts To Be Cold."

That's the theme for the Inter-Fraternity Council's clothing drive being sponsored now through Nov. 21.

The Council is sponsoring the clothing drive in response to a flier received from Greater Omaha Community Action. GOCA stressed that many children will be cold this winter unless helped. Clothing is needed in all sizes. The clothing will be distributed to children in the Omaha area.

The IFC has a booth in the Student Center opposite the Ouampi Room for collecting clothing from 8 a.m. to 9:45 p.m. Each fraternity is taking turns working the booth. If any one has too much clothing to bring in call 553-4700 ext. 620.

The project was approved unanimously by the council. They hope this will be nothing political and that the whole University will take part.

Recess Hours

Regular hours.

Track Notice

There will be an indoor track meeting Monday at 3:30 p.m. in the southwest corner of the fieldhouse.

Free U: Urban Series

An education urban series is the latest topic on the Free University agenda. Lecturer is Theodore J. Johnson, a research chemist, who serves on the City Personnel Board, is vice-president of the Urban Action Assn. Consultant with Triple T Project, and a member of the Regents Commission.

The first meeting is this Tuesday, Nov. 24, in Dining Room A of the Student Center. The topic of the first lecture, which begins at 7:30 p.m. is: Minority education and how it relates to the total community.

Petitions Due

Engineering students. Make sure your college is represented. Petitions for Student Senate are again available in Rm. 301 of the Student Center today. Petitions and posters are due no later than 12:00 noon Nov. 30. Elections will take place Dec. 9-10.

Lettermen Meet

An organizational meeting for all varsity lettermen will be held Monday, November 23, at 3:30 p.m. in the Fieldhouse to elect Captains for the coming season. A meeting for all varsity candidates will be announced at a later time.
